Hailstorm, tornado threat strike region

A sudden rash of traffic problems and minor accidents resulted from Tuesday's extraordinarily heavy hail and rainstorm, starting about 5:15 p.m., as drivers going home from work attempted to plow through several inches of hail and flooded streets and, at the same time, circumvent abandoned cars that littered the roadways.

The freakish storm occurred while the community was under a tornado warning. The hail is believed to have been the worst here in more than 20 years.

THE GROUND became covered, in places, with the hail, resembling new snow cover. The Press-Record measured hail pieces up to 1 1/4 inches across. In places, the hail accumulation was measured at four inches deep, including the main fire station. The wind pushed the hail into drifts up to a foot deep in places.

Granite City's network of warning sirens was activated at 4:47 p.m. Tuesday when reported tornado sightings came in from the East St. Louis area and other St. Clair County communities. Still more funnel sightings, at least five, were reported from various areas in the metropolitan St. Louis region.

A tornado tore the roof off a 120-year-old church in Warburg near Waterloo, and another struck in the O'Fallon area, lifting a roof. Another twister was spotted in Collinsville, but did not touch down.

LOCALLY, the hail, combined with the heavy winds, sounded like "machine gun fire" against the walls of some houses, one witness told reporters. Insurance agents reported being very busy with calls Wednesday morning about roofs damaged by the hail.

Granite City police were kept busy with a series of false burglar alarms, stalled cars and auto accidents caused by the severe road conditions. Water gushed from sewer manholes nearly a foot into the air along St. Clair Avenue.

At one time, at least two police cars were stalled by the water, complicating their effort to answer all calls. One had to be towed out of the water at 10:20 p.m. near Johnson School.

AT 9:40 P.M., the police requested the street department barricade West Pontoon Road due to deep water on the roadway. All major roads in the city were under water from inches to several feet deep. Behind Granite City High School, several cars were stalled in water at least three feet deep.

The excessive volume of water overloaded the sewers and there were several reports of water problems in basements on Terrace Lane, Country Lane, Pine Street, Clark Avenue, Oaklawn Avenue and Waterman Avenue.

The accidents started early as weather conditions worsened. At 5:15 p.m. Tuesday, Curtis E. Swift, 35, of 214 Robert Ave., was driving south on Maryville Road, about a quarter-mile north of Route 162, when his auto slid into the rear of a station wagon operated by Charles H. Hull, Rural Route Two, Box 796.

HULL, 56, told police he was driving very slowly due to weather conditions.

Tina Swift, 8, of the Robert Avenue address, one of five passengers in the Swift car, also sustained a minor injury.

Swift reported applying his brakes, but sliding into the other vehicle. He was charged with driving while his license was suspended. He will report for a hearing May 4.

AN ACCIDENT which drew plenty of attention from hometown bound motorists occurred on Madison Avenue at 30th Street.

Involved were Paula S. Chronister, 18, of 1625 Olive St., who was traveling west on 30th Street when wet brakes failed to stop her car which entered Madison Avenue and into the path of a northbound auto operated by Elmer L. Worham, 35, of 5255 Boyke Ave.

Miss Chronister suffered a minor injury. Deep water on streets and extremely severe weather conditions at the time were cited by officers at the scene.

HAIL AND HIGH WATER. Deep tracks through a blanket of hail about four inches deep are left by a Granite City Fire Department ambulance Tuesday night as it backs into its parking area at the main fire station, 23rd Street and Madison Avenue. The freak hailstorm hit the Quad-City area during the early-evening rush hour, making driving hazardous at best.

TO THE FLOORBOARDS. The freak hailstorm that accompanied heavy thunderstorms early Tuesday night combined to clog stormwater sewers through the area leaving many motorists stranded in low-lying intersections and streets. This compact car attempts to turn north from Johnson Road onto Normanski Road through knee-deep water still flooding the intersection nearly three hours after the storm.

Former GC drug user talks about life from behind bars

(Editor's note: This letter was submitted to the Press-Record by a 20-year-old Granite City man, who is presently serving eight years in a medium security prison for armed robbery. A graduate of Granite City High School North, he has submitted this letter to help young people who may abuse drugs or alcohol. School officials deny allegations that they "look the other way" when drug abuse is seen and say an active campaign against drug abuse on the campus and in the smoking area has been waged in the past and continues. Penalties for students caught with drugs or alcohol or selling the substances were detailed in a previous article.)

Some people use their time, telling others about the right or wrong of doing drugs, but I'm just here to tell you my story and let you make up your own mind about drugs.

I started trying drugs in junior high school. It began with my so-called friends wanting me to try some pot. At first I smoked it so that I could be in with the crowd, but later I did it because I liked the way it made me feel.

BY THE TIME I was in high school, I was spending my lunch money to get high. I started selling drugs so that I could pay for my own habit.

Later, I started using speed, valium, acid—just about anything I could get my hands on. I began using bigger quantities of drugs too. Pretty soon I couldn't even pay my dealer when he wanted his money. I started stealing to pay for my habit. I took tools, bikes, tires—anything. I sold everything I owned. I even started stealing things from my parents.

THE FOUR YEARS I spent at North High School, I was high most of the time. All my friends and I did was get high before school, in school and after school. The only reason I graduated was because I showed up for school—I didn't learn anything. I didn't think at the time that there was very much drug usage at the school, but when I look back, I realize how many drugs went through there. On a good day, I would have two to five hundred dollars in my pocket, but I would spend most of that on drugs by the end of the day.

I also got money by trading drugs for stolen items and then reselling those items for a profit.

BACK THEN, I said I wasn't hooked. I'd tell my friends that I took drugs because I wanted to do them, not because I had to—but in the Local drug task force forms

A local task force has been formed in Granite City to prevent drug and alcohol abuse among the youth in the community. The Chemical People task force helps to combat the problem by promoting awareness of drug usage, alerting parents to the symptoms of drug and alcohol abuse, providing information on alternatives and giving referrals for professional assistance.

The group currently meets every Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in Maryville School, Room 140. The program is open to the public and hopes to educate them by the use of films and lectures.

The group is in the process of becoming a member of the Illinois Drug Education Alliance and the National Federation of Parents for Drug-Free Youth.

Funding for the organization is to be generated at a local level. The non-profit group will use donated funds to purchase materials to provide the grand jury and attempting to conceal assets from the trustee in charge of the Stix liquidation. Testifying that he has cooperated "completely and honestly" as he exposed his embezzlement scheme which netted him $16 million and destroyed the Stix and Co. brokerage firm of St. Louis.

Brimberry reconfirmed his grand jury testimony, saying that he did not want to change any of his answers.

This is the first time Brimberry has testified in a Stix-related case, and the courtroom, which has been nearly devoid of spectators these past two weeks, was filled to capacity as Brimberry took the stand.

Calling the scheme "basically a simple fraud," Brimberry told jurors that he decided to "take a chance" on embezzling money from Stix because of marital problems, and because he needed to repay debts left behind by his brother-in-law, Arthur Miller Jr., when their joint business ventures had failed.

"I did it to give my wife things that I couldn't afford to do," he said.

By putting phony stocks into his accounts and forging securities, Brimberry gave the impression that these accounts were involved in active trading, and he was able to draw money from the imaginary holdings.

Two days after his 41st birthday, Thomas Brimberry testified in his own defense during his trial in which he is charged with perjury before the grand jury and attempting to conceal assets from the trustee in charge of the Stix liquidation. Testifying that he has cooperated "completely and honestly" as he exposed his embezzlement scheme which netted him $16 million and destroyed the Stix and Co. brokerage firm of St. Louis.

Brimberry reconfirmed his grand jury testimony, saying that he did not want to change any of his answers.

simple fraud," Brimberry told jurors that he decided to "take a chance" on embezzling money from Stix because of marital problems, and because he needed to repay debts left behind by his brother-in-law, Arthur Miller Jr., when their joint business ventures had failed.

"I did it to give my wife things that I couldn't afford to do," he said.

By putting phony stocks into his accounts and forging securities, Brimberry gave the impression that these accounts were involved in active trading, and he was able to draw money from the imaginary holdings.

Brimberry explained that the fraud was relatively easy to conceal from internal and external auditors, saying that he would simply lie to investigators about the ten accounts he controlled, and auditors would not question his statements.

"It was basically a simple fraud," he testified. "The phony securities looked real. When I didn't want to show them securities, I would just lie about where they were. I told them that they were being loaned to another brokerage house or that they were in the possession of the owner for some reason. It's unbelievable that regulatory authorities would not come in and find out what was going on. You could guide them in a different direction and they'd be more than happy to do it so that they could get the audit over with," he said.

Brimberry was making $700-$800 per month when he "decided to take a chance" in late 1974, telling Defense Attorney David Lubell during direct examination that he involved Jerry Maeras in a "nursing home deal," and he told Maeras that he could "work out a deal illegally with Stix."

After the nursing home venture failed to materialize, Brimberry and Maeras then became involved in stealing money from two accounts set up in the names of Jerry S. Maeras and Maeras Enterprises.

Commenting on earlier testimony by Maeras in which Maeras said that Brimberry did not fulfill a verbal agreement to split the money stolen from these accounts equally, and that he (Maeras) had only received "over $100,000 to $150,000"

Master Teachers to be honored

On Monday, April 9, 11 Governor's Master Teacher Program recipients will be honored and awarded $1,000 stipend each by Regional Superintendent of Schools Harold E. Briggs at Charlie's Restaurant in Granite City. Kathleen Weber of Edwardsville also will receive a stipend for being selected Teacher of the Year by the State Board of Education.

Awards will be given to Rachel B. Faries of Alton High School, Sharon Rinderer of Highland Junior High, James E. Kerr of Triad High School, Stella R. Davenport of Marshall Elementary School in Granite City, Dick Kobitz of Dorris Elementary School in Collinsville, and Betty J. Cole of Lincoln Elementary School in East Alton.

Also, Ray J. Althoff of Midway Elementary School in Edwardsville, Dennis Brueggeman of Highland

Junior High School, James L. Morrison of the Area Vocational Center in Collinsville, William Colman of Edwardsville High School, Althea A. Cross of Venice High School and Kathleen Weber of N. O. Nelson Elementary School in Edwardsville. During the 1983-84 or 1984-85 school years, each Master Teacher will be provided three days released time to act as a resource to other teachers through direct consultations, visiting other classrooms or hosting teachers in their classrooms to demonstrate exemplary teaching practices and conduct local and regional workshops and inservice training sessions.

The Madison County selection committee was comprised of teachers, school administrators, students, parents, school board members and community representatives, including business and professional groups. At least half of the committee must be comprised of classroom teachers. Emalou Boyer of Frohardt Elementary School was the local teacher on the committee, the board member representative was Wilbert Glasper, Venice School Board president, and business was represented by Margaret Lee of First National Bank of Madison.

YOUTHS CHARGED AFTER WAKING UP NEIGHBORS

Two Granite City youths were charged with prowling and curfew violations after residents living in the 2900 block of Pershing Boulevard complained of persons banging on doors and waking them up.

The 16-year-old was also charged with resisting arrest after he ran from Granite City police officers. The 14-year-old received an additional charge of possession of alcohol.

CHARRED FURNITURE. Only a bottle of furniture conditioner appears untouched by a blaze which swept through the Steinberg Furniture Store, 19th Street and Edison Avenue, formerly Jo-Lin Furniture, during the weekend. Described by a fire department spokesman as a total loss, the cause of the fire has not been determined. An investigation continues. (Press-Record Photo by Patrick Foley)

DEEP FRYER TAKEN

Gary Goehfert III, of 2000 Washington Ave., told Granite City police last week that someone took a deep fryer he had outside by his garage.

County will help finance new bridge

The Illinois Commerce Commission last week approved an order calling for the rebuilding of a bridge which carries Madison County Highway 50 over the double track lines of the Consolidated Rail Corporation (Con Rail) near Troy. The county's share of the construction cost could be as much as $75,000.

The bridge, constructed in 1927, has deteriorated severely and is too narrow to properly accommodate the heavy traffic flow. It is estimated that 2,500 vehicles use the bridge each day. Railroad traffic consists of 24 trains per day.

By terms of the ICC order, the county will remove the existing superstructure and substructure of the bridge. A new bridge will be constructed, widening the deck to 40 feet from the present 30 feet.

Cost of the new structure, which will have a 23-foot minimum vertical clearance and a 10-foot off-track maintenance road north of the tracks, is estimated at $663,641.

The Grade Crossing Protection Fund, administered by the ICC will pay one-third of the actual cost, not to exceed $221,215. Con Rail will be responsible for 10 percent of the total cost, not to exceed $66,364.40. Madison County will bear the remaining costs. In addition, Con Rail will be required to bear the costs of flagmen, watchmen and inspectors necessary during construction.

All work must be completed within two years.

SEMC blood drive April 20

"The greatest gift a person can give is the gift of life," said Sister Mary Thomas, SEMC president. As in the past, area residents are being asked to participate in a blood drive. The drive, which will be Friday, April 20, is open to all healthy persons, 17 years or older. The blood drive will be in Pascal Hall from 11 a.m. to 3:45 p.m. Donors over 66 years of age need a recent health statement from their physician.

Blood may be donated every eight weeks. Donors need not know their blood type.

"Each person gives less than a pint of blood," said Pat Davis, SEMC associate health nurse, and the after-effects are minimal, since the body replaces the liquid portion of the blood quickly. The energy loss may be compared to the exertion required for a half-mile walk."

The giving of blood takes from 7 to 15 minutes. To help replenish fluids, donors will be served refreshments afterwards.

For more information, interested persons may contact SEMC at 798-3028 or call the Public Relations Department at 798-3167.

Lot should not be neglected

While the fire at Steinberg Furniture last week was a tragedy for the owners, it does open up some new possibilities for downtown development.

With the collapse of the already damaged roof in Tuesday night's severe storm, it appears unlikely that the building on the corner of 19th Street and Edison Avenue can be saved. It probably will have to be razed.

If so, the city should be thinking of acquiring the property. It could be useful as a parking lot, as a park which could serve as the heart of the latest mall plan, or could be the site of some type of new and attractive building to inspire the modernization of the downtown area.

The one thing that should not be allowed to happen is what happened just a block away, at 19th and

Delmar, where fire destroyed the former Factory Outlet Clothing Store years ago and the lot has just been left vacant, the concrete floor of the building and linoleum tile still in place. To allow this would be to just allow the downtown area to deteriorate more.

The owners of Steinberg Furniture were insured and say they believe they will be able to reopen at another location. We wish them luck and hope they can stay in the downtown area.

We strongly suggest that the city begin planning now for the future of the lot they are vacating, located in the heart of the downtown area, which can set the tone for the downtown's revitalization—or can set the mood for the downtown area's decay.

'Safe and effective' killer?

Sometimes our legal system can become so technical, it is almost comical.

Such was the case in Texas last week where a "technically" postponed the execution of "Candyman" Ronald C. O'Bryan, 39, who was convicted of killing his 8-year-old son in 1974 with cyanide-laced Halloween candy and giving similar candy to four other children who did not eat it, including his 6-year-old daughter.

O'Bryan was sentenced to die by a lethal injection of drugs. His attorneys argued that the U.S. Food and Drug Administration had not found them "safe and effective" for the use for which they were intended.

Crazy, yes, but at least one Texas court bought it. The argument went all the way to the Supreme Court, which rejected it and O'Bryan was executed last Saturday.

Had the Supreme Court agreed with O'Bryan's attorneys, it could have opened all kinds of new doors. The electric chair would undoubtedly have to have UL approval as safe before it could be used, for example.

We are glad the Supreme Court continues to look for the spirit of the law amidst the weeds of technicalities, so law-abiding people can continue their lives in a safe and effective manner.

Warfield to head party

The Democratic Party in Madison County has taken the first steps toward a new image and an end to factionalism, its new leaders say.

In the party convention in Edwardsville Monday night, Mac Warfield, street superintendent of Granite City, was elected as the party's new chairman, and three vice chairmen were chosen.

CHRIS COSTOFF, who stepped down as chairman, was named honorary chairman and a permanent life-time member of the Democratic central committee. The only other person to gain the latter designation is Walter "Buck" Simons of Vandalia, former county Democratic chairman.

According to Bill Rekowski of Collinsville, the precinct committeemen from Collinsville Township helped Warfield receive the votes he needed to be elected on the first ballot cast.

Warfield defeated George Donohoo of Deo River by 24,000 to 8,000 votes.

Each precinct committeeman votes the number of Democratic ballots cast in his or her precinct in the March 20 election.

REKOWSKI, Bob Stille of Edwardsville, and Steve Wood of Deo River were selected for the three vice chairman posts.

Traditionally, there is only one vice chairman. The change will help insure greater representation throughout the county, members of the party said.

Rekowski, who beat out Circuit Clerk Willard V. "Butch" Portell for one vice chairmanship, will represent the portion of Madison County in the 110th and 96th legislative districts.

Stille will represent the 11th District; Davis the 112th District.

THE DEMOCRATIC convention was closed to the public, but party members attending said the vote was close on the rule change to create the three chairmanships.

Costoff, who has led the party since 1978, expressed bitterness after learning that some party members without him in March and decided that a new chairman was needed.

But Rekowski, who talked at length with Costoff after the party convention, said he believes the former chairman is now satisfied with the changes.

AND COSTOFF appeared in excellent spirits when he spoke with a reporter outside the Democrats' meeting on Monday night.

"I know he'll do a good job," Costoff said of Warfield. "His father was in politics for 50 years and I figure what he does, he knows, his father will tell him. And what he can't tell him, I'll tell him."

Costoff said he had picked two candidates to succeed himself and had decided on Warfield.

There were no bitter feelings between himself and the Democrats' new chairman, Costoff said. "I'm not mad at anybody. I'm well satisfied and nobody," he said. "I'm not mad at anybody who wants to help, I'll be right by his side. I'm the new advisor."

PARTY SOURCES said Warfield's selection can be viewed as a compromise. Madison and earlier considered a strong candidate for the chairmanship, told reporters last week that he was seeking the position.

REKOWSKI describes Warfield as "a conciliator."

According to Rekowski, the party's chief goal will now be to eliminate some of its factionalism. Specifically, the party wants to get DEMCO members back into the fold.

DEMCO is an independent organization of Democratic elected officials, some of whom have declined to pay their "assessments" to the party for the party's endorsement and backing in elections in Madison County.

Rekowski noted, He does not feel the criticism is justified; the funds go to precinct committeemen for their duties at the precinct level.

But Rekowski said he believes the party will be looking at changes in its traditional method of payment for endorsements.

PORTELL has similar sentiments corruption in the county.

Weber was referring to his banishment from the affairs of a grand jury investigating assessment practices by the Madison County Board of Review and Supervisor of Assessments, James Barton.

An order signed last week by Circuit Judge Philip Rarik says Weber had shown a personal interest in the case. Rarik appointed former assistant state's attorney Keith Jensen as a special prosecutor to lead the grand jury investigation.

Jensen resigned last Tuesday from the grand jury.

WEBER FILED a petition Monday seeking to have the judge's order rescinded.

At Monday night's convention, the GOP voted to condemn the actions of Rarik and another judge in the replacement of Weber in the investigation. The Republicans called the judge's actions unconstitutional and an usurpation of the power of the voters in Madison County.

A second resolution approved by the group urged voters not to retain Democratic Circuit Judge William Johnson in the November election.

Ragsdale was elected to his fifth term in office.

The GOP also realigned some of its districts within the county.

to those of Rekowski. He said there is a need to get the party together with the county's elected officials, "or we'll have the same problems all over that we have now."

Portell told a reporter that he did not lobby very extensively against Rekowski for the job of vice chairman, but had felt he (Portell) could do the party some good if elected.

State Rep. Sam Wolf of Granite City easily won another term as the Democratic party's secretary in Monday night's convention.

A MOTION was made by Alderman Sharon Perjak of Granite City for the party to ask County Clerk Bowles to have votes in subsequent elections counted at the polls before being taken to the district tallying.

The motion received loud applause and strong support from the committeemen, some of whom had to wait up to eight days after the March 20 election to find out if they won in their precincts.

After the convention, Warfield told the Press-Record, "We were really proud and happy with the victory."

He said the vote went "just about as anticipated."

Nameoki Township Supervisor Harry Briggs was expected to receive some votes, but the first ballot, Nameoki's Democratic committeemen agreed at a recent meeting to vote for him as a favorite son, and he released his commitment before the first ballot and they voted their own conscience.

"Harry pulled out before the vote," Warfield said.

THE NEW county Democratic chairman said he already has been approached by members of the DEMCO faction to talk and "I said I would be glad to."

He also plans to talk to state legislators in Springfield, township chairmen and others "and find out what their problems are and see if we can straighten those problems out."

An executive committee will be appointed in the near future, he noted.

Asked if he feels the county Democratic chairmanship will take away from the time he devotes to Granite City street duties, Warfield pledged, "My full-time job is right here (the street department). This is my bread and butter."

"Unemployment recedes with the occurrence of moderate widespread employment upturns," was how Velda Gerstenecker of the Illinois Bureau of Employment Security described the reduction in unemployment in this area in the latest figures available from the bureau.

The figures show that unemployment in Granite City declined from 15.7 percent in January's final figures to 13.8 percent in February, the latest month for which statistics have been compiled.

DECLINING unemployment was noted for all major cities in the region, but none improved as dramatically as Granite City.

Alton's unemployment dropped from 14.8 percent to 13.2 percent,

Belleville improved from 17.8 percent in January to 17.1 percent in February's preliminary tally and East St. Louis' percentage of residents on unemployment dropped from 11.2 percent to 10.9 percent.

Those figures do not reflect those who have not found work, but their unemployment benefits have run out. Nor are those who quit seeking work and returned to school included in the totals.

In Granite City, February's figures show 2,725 persons unemployed from a total labor force of 19,825.

The labor force was down slightly from January's total of 19,825.

In Madison County, unemployment dipped from 13.2 percent to

Supports bill to reduce health care costs

To the Editor:

U.S. Sen. Edward Kennedy and Representative Richard Gephardt have unveiled an important new bill to control health care costs which would help solve one of the nation's most pressing problems—runaway inflation throughout the entire health care system.

Executive Director William R. Hutton of the National Council of Senior Citizens, Inc., in endorsement of the bill said, "And it would effectively control health costs without raising taxes or cutting the benefits on which the elderly and poor depend."

Hutton emphasized that Medicare's pending fiscal crisis is a direct result of overall health care inflation. Cuts in benefits, he said, "would only further penalize those who are already victims of high health costs. At the same time, benefit cuts would do nothing to get at the root causes of those high costs."

Sen. Kennedy said the proposed legislation had only one purpose, "to prove to Congress and the country that there is a better way than the administration's proposal to deal with the coming crisis over Medicare."

The present Medicare record shows proposed or enacted Medicare benefit cuts totaling $31 billion, which translates to a thousand dollars in cuts for every Medicare beneficiary. And that may be only the first assault.

The administration's Advisory Committee on Social Security has proposed raising the age of Medicare eligibility to 67; they want larger co-payments and higher premiums for health care, a tax on health insurance benefits, new excise taxes and a greater shift of costs to the private sector.

Kennedy argued that Medicare is not facing financial catastrophe because benefits are too high or taxes too low, but because the current health care system fuels raging inflation. He said, "You do not need a stethoscope to diagnose the cause of health care inflation. Hospitals and doctors charge too much; voluntary effort for restraint have never worked; and Congress has always lacked the will to confront the powerful health lobby that feeds on the excesses."

Gephardt said the bill provides a health care solution that reduces the system's hemorrhaging without stopping the innovation. "We encourage competition, but recognize the need for regulation. I believe that this proposal will raise the level of discussion and help all Americans to focus on the problems we face in the health system."

Leaders of supporting organizations such as the AFL-CIO, the American Association of Retired Persons, the Health Security Action Council as well as the director for the National Council of Senior Citizens—all the proposed legislation "the best get-well message the elderly have received from Congress since Medicare."

Thirty states currently are working on strategies for ensuring passage of the bill. For more information on how you or your club can take part in the campaign on behalf of the bill, write to: NCS Campaigns and Development, 925 Fifteenth Street N.W., Washington, D.C. 20005.

In answer to Mr. Moody's letter concerning the actions of a priest, I believe in respecting the laws of our wonderful country, but when they by-pass the laws of God, it is another story.

I'm sure this man of God felt the same when he trespassed. How can you compare our courts with Nazi Germany and not recognize the holocaust of the unborn? If God sent this man, he didn't trespass because "the earth is the Lord's and the fullness therein."

We are the trespassers. Whether you believe it or not, this is true. By the way, I'm not Catholic or with any political group.

Weber tells GOP of challenges

Dr. Edward Ragsdale of Alton was re-elected unanimously Monday night to the chairmanship of the Republican party in Madison County.

The GOP's party convention, held in a courtroom in the courthouse in Edwardsville, was sparked by a speech from the Republican's lone county officeholder—State's Attorney Don Weber.

WEBER SAID Madison County is in the midst of an acute constitutional crisis. At issue, he said, is whether the judiciary can tell the executive branch of government whether or not it can investigate political corruption in the county.

Weber was referring to his banishment from the affairs of a grand jury investigating assessment practices by the Madison County Board of Review and Supervisor of Assessments, James Barton.

An order signed last week by Circuit Judge Philip Rarik says Weber had shown a personal interest in the case. Rarik appointed former assistant state's attorney Keith Jensen as a special prosecutor to lead the grand jury investigation.

Belleville improved from 17.8 percent in January to 17.1 percent in February's preliminary tally and East St. Louis' percentage of residents on unemployment dropped from 11.2 percent to 10.9 percent.

The labor force was down slightly from January's total of 19,825.

In Madison County, unemployment dipped from 13.2 percent to 11.7 percent in February's preliminary figures. They showed that 15,175 persons were unemployed as of February in the county, from a labor force of 129,500.

STATEWIDE, 559,000 persons were unemployed in February, 10.1 percent of the labor force of 5,549,000, a drop of six-tenths of a percent from the 10.7 percent unemployed in January, the bureau's figures show.

In the seven-county Metro-East region, unemployment was at 11.5 percent in February, an improvement from 12.6 percent in the previous month. Of a workforce of 285,225 in Clinton, Madison, Monroe, St. Clair, Bond, Calhoun and Jersey counties, 34,000 were unemployed, the report shows.

Weber probe is expanded

Paul Verticchio, the special prosecutor leading a special grand jury examining charges against Madison County State's Attorney Don Weber by Belleville attorney Amiel Cuelo, is going to be allowed to expand the probe.

An order issued Tuesday by Madison County Chief Judge A.A. Matosian permits Verticchio to look into the circumstances surrounding Weber's removal from an grand jury's probe of assessment practices.

Circuit Judge Philip Rarick, in naming a special prosecutor for the assessments probe last week, barred Weber from the case. Rarick said he believed Weber was "personally interested" in the probe.

Cuelo's charges against Weber include allegations of misconduct in office, coercion of employees, and fraud.

Weber and his wife Virginia, the subject of certain of Cuelo's allegations, have filed libel suits against him.

The special grand jury led by Verticchio resumed its deliberations yesterday.

PICK UP GC YOUTH

A 14-year-old Granite City youth being sought on a warrant issued by the Madison County Sheriff's Department, alleged violation of probation, was taken into custody at 3 p.m. Monday and released to county authorities two hours later.

of the approximately $1 million that the account generated, Brimberry said, "I wish that I had a shovel to follow Jerry Maeras around with so all he said he got out of it."

Brimberry reiterated grand jury testimony that he conspired with Jim Massa, a former Collinsville attorney, Leonard Bednar, formerly in charge of operations at Stix, and William Swanson, formerly in charge of the bond department at Stix, to "manipulate" the company, putting it in a financial bind so that Massa could buy stock (with financing provided by Brimberry) in Stix and eventually take over the firm.

Swanson wanted to put Massa in charge "for his own selfish reasons," Brimberry testified, because he wanted a bigger bond department, and Bednar "was always paranoid about losing his job," and he thought that Massa would insure his position at Stix.

Neither Bednar nor Swanson "knew of the wrongdoing that Jim Massa and I were doing," Brimberry said of their involvement in the scheme to take over Stix.

"What was in it for you?" Lubell asked Brimberry, and he responded by saying, "It would be easier to control everything, the way we were running it."

"What was in it for James Massa?" Lubell asked.

"Just a little bit more than what was in it for Tom Brimberry," he responded, saying that Massa was getting stolen money from Stix and also charging the firm $200 per hour consultation fees.

Detailing the takeover plan for the jury, Brimberry said that Swanson would make purchases in the bond department at the end of the month, creating a need for capital. Brimberry would then give Stix money to Jerry Maeras, who had carried it to Massa, who in turn would "play the big shot role" by coming into Stix on the last day of the month and reinvest the money by purchasing Stix stock, thereby bringing Stix out of its financial bind.

"We created a situation where we were taking money out the back door and bringing it in the front," Brimberry testified.

Brimberry testified that his wife, Janice, Jerry Maeras and his wife, Sally, Arthur Miller Jr. and his wife, Shirley, knew that he was falsifying accounts and generating illegal money, and that Miller, and the Maeras' were blackmailing him, with Jerry Maeras once getting $39,000 from Mrs. Brimberry at her home.

It was Maeras, Brimberry testified, who told him that he could get stock certificates from S. G. Adams Office Supply in St. Louis and forge them. Mrs. Brimberry would type the names of fictitious companies and stocks and Brimberry said, "Jerry Maeras, in my living room, in my wife's presence, signed different names on them."

When Lubell asked Brimberry what he did with the stolen money, Brimberry replied, "I was a total degenerate. I gambled away every penny I could get."

Of his gambling habits, Brimberry said that he started out losing "$300 to $400" in Las Vegas gambling trips, but those losses elevated to "$3 to $5 million on a black jack table," and totaled his losses in Las Vegas at $6 million.

His spending habits also changed, Brimberry said, and he went from spending $200,000 in 1977 to millions of dollars in 1980-81.

To cover his sudden upsurge in lifestyle, Brimberry told friends and business associates that his wife had inherited a great deal of money, and he lied to Stix employees about the cost of his $1.6 million Granite City home.

Brimberry's testimony continues when court reconvenes at 11 a.m. to know U.S. District Court Judge Clyde Cahill's courtroom.

Ron Stanley, a Belleville attorney who represented the Brimberys until January 1983, testified Tuesday that he "saw no problem" with Brimberry selling equipment belonging to Miller Excavating after the embezzlement scheme became public.

Lubell directly examined Stanley, the first witness for the defense, asking Stanley if he knew that the trustee for Stix had laid claim to all of Brimberry's assets when he advised Brimberry of the legality of selling the equipment.

Stanley responded by saying that he was "sure" that he knew that Harry Moline, trustee assigned to the Stix liquidation, had been appointed and was claiming Brimberry's assets at the time.

Testifying that he was present during all meetings between Brimberry and government agents, Stanley said that Brimberry told officials that he was selling the equipment.

During cross-examination by Assistant U.S. Attorney Kane, Stanley testified that he advised Brimberry to deposit the proceeds from the sale of the equipment into a separate bank account because "there would be a day of reckoning."

Excerpts from Brimberry's grand jury testimony in April 1982 were read Monday by Kane, and jurors learned that Brimberry was essentially unworried about external auditors, saying that it was "malarkey" when Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) officials said that they would have uncovered the scheme soon, even without Brimberry's confession in November 1981.

Brimberry told government agents that auditors would make a superficial check to see that the company was in good standing, but "they wouldn't even crack the books" to investigate possible frauds.

He also told the grand jury that he would carry phony stock certificates "back and forth" between Stix and his home and destroy them after he knew that auditors were satisfied with their inspection.

Jerry Maeras of Madison knew "the game" early on, Brimberry told officials, but Arthur Miller Jr. of Granite City thought that his account at Stix was a legitimate account financed by Brimberry.

"Jerry Maeras knew that he had all these phony stocks in his account," Brimberry had testified.

"Art Miller Jr. only knew that his accounts were being checked to see if they were under water. He knew that he was getting a free ride," he said.

Brimberry faces charges in prison on eight counts of perjury and two counts of concealing assets, and the jury of nine men and three women is expected to render a decision early next week.

Drug user

back of my mind I knew I needed the drugs.

My drug habit finally caught up with me though. One night, I robbed a gas station with three other boys that I hardly knew and we got caught.

That night was the last time I used drugs, but the events of the robbery still aren't clear in my mind. There are parts of the night that I don't remember at all.

I WAS SENT to prison for my actions - and that's a big price to pay for what drugs and alcohol has done to my life. My best years have been wasted because of it.

When I got to prison, I found that nearly everyone there also was doing time because of their involvement with drugs or alcohol.

I know for sure that almost any kind of drugs a kid would want are available at school, especially high school. Other students and myself used to buy, sell and use drugs in the smoking area of the high school all the time. It was easy to do because if anyone saw us, they would just look the other way.

A LOT OF PEOPLE say that drugs won't hurt you, but I disagree with all of them. I was told when you start using drugs, your brain stops developing. I've been tested several times and my I.Q. is that of a junior high school student - the age I was when I started using.

I haven't used drugs for quite some time now and I feel a lot better. I can think clearly and I even have a decent memory now. I have learned how to enjoy life and be myself, even in prison.

I know I can't do much to help stop drugs from where I am, but I do a lot of praying on the subject. I just know I wouldn't want anyone else to wind up in a place like the one I'm in right now.

DRUGS ARE ALL over the place and there is nowhere to go to keep from being around them. The answer then is to teach people about drugs and their effects. People shouldn't be afraid to talk about the drug problem.

I have determined that with the help of God, I will live my life to the fullest without the influence of alcohol or drugs. I think others can do the same.

Hazardous waste violators caught in check of trucks

By ED GURNEY

A total of 103 of the 366 trucks hauling hazardous materials that were checked by the Illinois State Police last week were in violation of state regulations, Trooper Dave Jung said.

There were 131 citations written in what was called the largest check ever launched in this area.

THERE WERE also 29 citations and 331 warnings written to truck drivers for other safety violations such as slick tires, defective brakes, failure to have fire extinguishers and other equipment problems.

With these (checks) as well as others, we're trying to gain voluntary compliance," Jung said. "I think this was a way of calling to their (truck drivers') attention that the Illinois State Police has a hazardous materials section and motor carrier safety section."

Trucks were checked for about eight hours both days at three sites: I-55 and Illinois 143, I-255 and I-64, and I-70 and Illinois 4.

WITH THE aid of a state police airplane, seven truckers were caught last Thursday trying to bypass the inspections by using secondary roads, Jung said.

The inspection program was jointly sponsored by the Illinois State Police and the Illinois Department of Transportation and funded with the help of grant money from the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration. A total of 26 troopers and six IDOT employees participated.

The district of the state police has its own troopers trained in hazardous materials. However, other troopers were brought in from other parts of the state for this concentrated effort, Jung said.

UNTIL A FEW years ago, the states were not responsible for enforcing hazardous material transportation regulations; that enforcement was handled by a few federal Interstate Commerce Commission inspectors, Jung said.

The responsibility was given to the states and Illinois adopted the regulations. Officials had expected to check about 3,000 vehicles during the two days, but the total was 6,307.

This area is a "hot spot" for transportation of hazardous materials because of firms here such as Monsanto and the refineries, Jung said.

IT IS DIFFICULT to analyze the results of the check, since it was the first one, Jung said. One of the purposes, however, was to begin gathering data that will have more meaning after future inspections, he said.

Some violations included in the citations may have seemed petty but "every one of those violations has the potential of becoming something very serious," Jung said.

For example, some truckers were given citations for not having their hazardous material loads braced properly. It's not a big deal unless a trucker had to swerve and the load tipped and spilled, Jung said.

ANOTHER SEEMINGLY minor violation was improperly identifying the type of material on the truck's placard. Numbers are used for identification, and people could be endangered at the scene of an accident, for example: if a trooper looks up a number and determines incorrectly that weed killer was in the tanker rather than something with deadly fumes, Jung said.

A total of 22 trucks were placed out of service for periods of time until violations were corrected. There were three trucks carrying radioactive shipments; all met regulations.

There had been two similar inspections in the northern part of the state previously.

A.O. Smith showing rapid growth

First quarter sales and earnings at A. O. Smith Corporation are expected to show significant growth over the first quarter of 1983, officials estimated last week.

Thomas I. Dolan, president and chief executive officer, said the rebound continues to be led by the A. O. Smith Automotive Products Company, where demand for automobile and truck frames and other structural products is substantially ahead of a year ago.

He forecasts that A. O. Smith would report first quarter sales of more than $250 million and that earnings would be in the range of $6.7 million to $7.8 million, or between 90 cents and $1.05 per share. In the first quarter of 1983, the company had sales of $205.2 million and earnings of $1,148,000, or 16 cents per share.

Besides automotive products, sales and earnings at most of the A. O. Smith operating units also will be substantially ahead of a year ago, Dolan said. The Applied Electric Products Company and the Electric Motor Company will report increased sales of electric motors and improved profits compared with the first quarter of last year. The Water Products Company, which makes water heating equipment, also is expected to report higher sales and profits compared with the 1983 first quarter.

The only units running behind year ago levels, Dolan said, are A. O. Smith Harvestore Products, Inc., a subsidiary which makes livestock feeding equipment, and Agristor Credit Corporation, which supplies financing for Harvestore systems products. He said continuing difficulty in the farm economy is hampering recovery at these units.

Dolan said the Automotive Products Company expects to report sales ahead by some 30 percent over the first quarter of last year. This is a direct reflection of continuing recovery in the automobile and truck industry, where vehicle sales are running at their best levels since 1979 and well ahead of the first quarter of 1983.

Of particular importance to A. O. Smith is the growing strength of the truck market. The company supplies frames or structural assemblies to a wide variety of truck manufacturers and sales of those products will show excellent growth in the first quarter, compared with last year.

In addition, A. O. Smith is the sole supplier of the frames for the mid-size General Motors line of cars which are selling extremely well. The company also manufactures rear trailing axles for front wheel drive compact cars, which also will show good growth in the first quarter.

A. O. Smith, with its subsidiaries and affiliates, is a diversified manufacturer. Its product lines include electric motors, agricultural feed storage and handling systems, auto and truck structural components, water heating equipment, fiber glass reinforced plastic piping systems, computer services and software, and agricultural financing.

A. O. Smith is in the process of equipping its Granite City automotive frame plant in Granite City.

News notes

Federal spending in Illinois is up 22 percent, the third largest gain in the past year, U.S. Sen. Charles H. Percy said last week. This state now ranks 34th among the 50 states on per capita U.S. expenditures.

Cong. Paul Simon, Sen. Percy's Nov. 6 election rival, urged him during the week to "use your influence" to bring a House-enacted bill to the Senate floor. The bill, now "near death," would extend the Jefferson National Expansion Memorial (Gateway Arch area) to the East St. Louis riverfront to permit site acceptance and acquisition.

Gov. James R. Thompson, issuing the first of ten proposed special messages to lawmakers, outlined on late last week details of his ideas for increased government efficiency.

Granite City High School students will be dismissed at 1:20 p.m. April 9 to enable staff members to begin implementing a self-study required by the North Central Association's upcoming evaluation.

ON PUPPY CHEWING

All puppies, while they are teething, want to chew on things. Dog owners are sometimes amazed at the amount of damage that their ten-week-old ball of fluff can cause while left alone for only a couple of hours. Furniture legs, dress shoes, child's favorite toys, etc. can be easily ruined. And though they will outgrow this stage as they get older, they shouldn't be allowed random destruction at any time. Give the puppy a safe toy of his own. House-closed. And do not leave a puppy where he can chew things up. If it is necessary to confine him in the house, it should be in a room such as the kitchen or bathroom, with a minimum of such objects. Better yet, put him in a pen of his own. This is also a good technique for house-breaking. On the positive side, a dog which receives plenty of attention and exercise is much less likely to get into too much mischief.

In Diamond Gloves Six MHC boxers still vying for titles

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

NORTH ST. LOUIS — As the saying goes, some days are diamonds and some days are stones. For two members of the Mexican Honorary Commission's Boxing Club, Wednesday night's competition in the Annual Henry Armstrong Diamond Glove Boxing Tournament here was just that — diamonds. Diamond victories.

By fight time about 250 persons jammed the Wohl Recreation Center on North Kingshighway. A knowledgeable boxing crowd, they came to see their favorites win.

MHC's entrants, however, had different ideas and two of them successfully carried out those ideas.

The first, Daryl Hahs, a 70-pound sub-novice boxer, defeated Kirk Douglas of the 12th and Park Street (St. Louis) Boxing Club to advance to Saturday's championship fight against Demetrius Cook of the Wellston Boxing Club. Cook, incidentally, defeated Hahs' MHC teammate Joe Costoff in another semifinal fight, running simultaneously to the Hahs-Douglas match.

For Hahs and Costoff, their bouts Wednesday were their first of the tournament.

MHC's other semifinal winner Wednesday was Derek Bloodworth, a spunky 13-year-old 75-pound sub-novice, wore down Ant-won Williams of the North Side Bombers Boxing Club in the first round before easily scoring enough points in the later rounds to pick up the decision.

Bloodworth earned a berth to last night's semifinal round bout by scoring a victory Tuesday in first-round action. Like Hahs, Bloodworth's championship fight is scheduled for Saturday night at 7 p.m. at the Wohl Center.

The Granite Cityans are but a few of nine MHC boxers competing in the Diamond Glove tourney, which is primarily for the younger, less experienced boxers than their Golden Glove counterparts.

In addition to Bloodworth, Mando Martinez, also a 75-pound sub-novice; Larry Jordan, a 95-pound sub-novice; Mark Martinez, a 106-pound sub-novice and Chip Hagnauer, a 156-pound sub-novice, also fought Tuesday. Mark Martinez, Hagnauer and Bloodworth were winners while Mando Martinez and Jordan were not as successful. Darin Hahs, a 60-pound sub-novice boxer and twin brother of Daryl, received a bye into Saturday's championship bout.

In all, through Wednesday's competition, the local club still has six of its members vying for championships in the Diamond Gloves Tournament.

MAC: A club dedicated to amateur sports

By BELINDA CONLEY
of the Press-Record

The Mitchell Athletic Club was chartered in 1960 for one purpose: to serve the youth of Mitchell. In its 24 years of existence it has served its purpose well and grown considerably in the process.

What started as a few baseball teams has now grown to include basketball, soccer, softball and an expanded baseball program which includes junior and juvenile Khouy League teams and junior and senior American Legion baseball.

As the Mitchell Athletic Club grew in its sporting teams so did its scope of participation. Although it was formed for the youth of Mitchell, any child in the Quad Cities area seven years or older, who is interested in sports, is eligible to play on any of the organization's teams.

It's estimated that 450 youths, 75 percent of whom are from Granite City, benefit from MAC's programs. About 80 percent are from Mitchell while 3 or 4 percent are from Madison.

Because MAC has grown to include the entire Tri-Cities area, the name of the club will be changed to the Mitchell-Tri-Cities Area Khouy League when the club renews its charter this year.

One factor in MAC's growth over the years is probably its willingness to give everyone a chance to play.

"We don't drop anyone because they don't have a lot of ability. Anyone who is interested enough to Despite competition with the park district for players, Merz said Wednesday, MAC doesn't actively recruit. "We just want kids to play, we don't go out and tell kids they ought to play sign up plays," according to Myron Merz, coach, secretary and spokesman for the club.

Merz also made it clear that prejudice is not a factor either as there have been black children on MAC's teams in the past.

MAC's policy of equal opportunity has helped it to fulfill its goal for its members, which according to Merz, is "to give kids something to do — to keep them off the streets and out of trouble."

Although MAC has grown in the last quarter century, its membership is dropping off. "We're competing against the Granite City Park District and we're having a hard time getting kids to play," said Merz.

for us." A lack of players in some programs has forced MAC to drop sports, such as flag football, and to merge the boys' and girls' teams in soccer and basketball.

"We tried to start girls' basketball teams, but we didn't have enough girls. Now we have two or three girls on each of the boys' teams," said Myron Brechner, MAC's president.

Diana Merz, Myron Merz's daughter, was the girl who opened the door to coed sports at MAC. When there weren't enough girls to have a basketball team, she decided to play on the boys' team. "She didn't have any trouble getting on the team, all she needed was the club's okay, now any girl who signs up for the teams can play. But the boys didn't like having girls on their team," said the elder Merz.

Although the teams remain predominantly male and the boys still don't like having girls on their team, the girls are still playing and some are doing quite well.

Merz feels that the girls benefit from playing on the boys' teams. "It's harder on the girls, but I think it helps them. I've coached some girls and they're easy to teach defense to... once they learn that they can get physical, they do a really good job."

They may also be benefiting in another way, now that there are combined teams at Granite City High School. It seems likely that MAC's girls will have an advantage over those that have never had the chance to compete against boys.

Despite MAC's success, lack of fields and consequently of playing fields, continues to be a major concern.

The MAC sports complex presently consists of one field with a few run down diamonds. According to Merz, the club has plans for the future, but lack of funds are keeping those plans from becoming realities.

"We've got eight acres of ground that we seeded last year where we would like to add some ball fields and lights and expand to adult sports, but that is expensive. We can't expand until we get some more funds, Merz said.

According to Brechner, MAC might have found a solution to its problem. The club gets funds from the Mitchell Fall Festival, from player registration fees and donations. If those funds prove to be insufficient MAC may take out a loan to complete its sports complex.

"We would like to have a lighted field with concession stands, baseball diamonds and soccer fields, and are in the process of negotiating to take over some lights owned by another field. We plan to start this summer by putting in servers. We seeded the field last fall so we'd could use them this fall," Brechner said.

As MAC continues to grow, the major emphasis is still the youth of the Quad Cities area. The organization is giving a lot of kids an opportunity they might not have otherwise, and is turning out some very good athletes. Many MAC members, such as Debbie Brandt and Derek Merz, are having outstanding high school careers and many former members, such as Bob Bailey and Perry Hartwick have earned athletic scholarships. According to Merz, that's what is important.

"The only reason we're here is for the kids."

Now Open Against Madison Harris optimistic about Devil hurlers

By AL BARNES
for the Press-Record

Clinton Harris, new baseball coach at Venice High, couldn't hide his relief when St. Henry's High of Belleville called today to cancel their game "because of a soggy and flooded field."

So, Coach Harris will have to wait to see what his Red Devils' baseball team will do in their home opener Monday against arch rival, Madison, in a 4 p.m. contest at Venice's Lee Park.

While relieved that he would have an extra day or to prepare his charges, for a rugged Illinois Gateway Conference schedule, Harris has high hopes of posting a winning season. Or, at least beating last year's dismal 1-9 campaign.

Harris hastened to explain: "You must remember that last year's season was Venice's first in a number of years, so it wasn't a real good judgment on the talent we have here."

All but two of Venice's starting team were basketball players for Harris. Catching will be senior Phil White. At first base it'll be senior Wally Dandridge and at second will be sophomore Mike Hogan. Craig Hamilton, another Red Devil cager and senior, will hold down shortstop when he's not on the mound hurling.

At the hot corner, will be Venice's clutch cager, Larry McGhee. In the outfield, in its left Vic Jackson, junior; center, Daren Wise, a junior, and in right, Damon Harris, a junior.

Right now, Harris' starting pitcher will be a fast-throwing southpaw, freshman Wilfred Wigfall. The pair of righthanders on the staff are Craig Hamilton and Vic Jackson.

Backup infielders are Lorenzo Brimmore and John Ball. Outfielders: Tony Silas, Tony Backstrom and Virg Barbee.

Following Monday's opener with Madison, the Red Devils should have an action-packed week. Tuesday the Devils travel to Highland to take on St. Paul followed by a game Wednesday in Livingston against the Eagles. All games, incidentally, are conference matchups and begin at 4 p.m.

GROUND STROKE. David Lipe, Granite City High School's first singles tennis player returns a ground stroke to Althoff's Eddie Abilez during their Gateway East Conference matchup Tuesday afternoon at GCHS' tennis courts. Because of the impending severe thunderstorm, the match was cancelled for the day and has been rescheduled for April 10. Lipe was leading the match one set to none. Monday, the day prior to the matchup with Althoff, the Warriors won their first outing of the season, defeating Chokola 5-1.

In Baseball Peru State Bobcats find winning easy with Granite City athletes

PERU (Neb.) — The biggest opponent for the Peru State baseball team hasn't been the opposition but the weather, which has again forced the postponement of the Bobcats' schedule. But the Bobcats did manage to open the season last Saturday by sweeping Benedictine College of Atchison, Kan.

The Bobcats, 2-0, swept Benedictine 2-1 and 14-12 in a twin-bill played at the Auburn Legion Field, Saturday afternoon.

"I don't think we were psychologically or physically ready to play Saturday," said head coach Nick Petrillo. "It's hard to keep that ready when you haven't played all year."

But apparently the Bobcats were ready.

Junior Vince Mitchell of Granite City scored the winning run in the fourth inning off a single from freshman Lance Parker (also of Granite City) RBI single.

Freshman Todd Brown (Indianola) picked up the victory, pitching one and two-third innings, and sophomore Mark Williams (Hastings) earned the save.

Sykes scored the winning run in the bottom of the seventh inning in the second opener, breaking a 12-tie, as the Bobcats swept the double-header from Benedictine.

Sykes went one-for-two at the plate, stole three bases, drew two walks, and scored four times.

The win upped the Bobcats record to 2-0 on the season while the Ravens fell to 4-13-1.

Next action for Peru will be Friday, April 6 (weather permitting) as they play at Nebraska Wesleyan University in Lincoln in a double-header beginning at 2 p.m. The Bobcats will also be in action this weekend, as they host Bellevue College, Saturday at the Auburn Legion Field beginning at 1 p.m.

Compete This Weekend

This Warrior team is serious about winning

With the coming of spring, Granite City High School's competition-minded students have turned their talents towards baseball, track, softball and tennis. When they're not battling Mother Nature for a playing surface, they're outside in full force vying for conference titles and berths into various post-season playoff races.

In addition to those traditional teams, last year there was another Warrior team which began competition in the spring, a team of perhaps a dozen girls. Some were athletes, others were cheerleaders and still others were statisticians for various varsity teams.

Basically, they were a varied, diversified group. It was that diversification — their combined talents — which lifted them to success.

One of 62 teams in the St. Louis area which competed in the head-to-head competition, the local girls finished eighth, beating schools like Belleville West, Althoff, Cahokia, Hazelwood East (Mo.) and Vianney (Mo.) High in their "field of competition."

And, although they competed against various schools, they were also a part of a whole team which consisted of all those 62 schools.

Just what kind of competition allows the meshing of various teams? They were the GCIS team members of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society's Athletes vs. MS.

Last year, the girls collected $1,153.68 for MS, eighth most behind top finisher Lindbergh High of St. Louis which collected $3,786.

This year the local squad is hoping for an even stronger finish. They want to finish better than eighth — they want to finish first, to dethrone the Lindbergh Flyers.

"I think it's a good cause," said Maria Longos, a GCIS junior who's collecting her second year for MS. "I want to help the people who have MS, although I really don't know that much about it," she admitted.

"I've seen its effects and how it restricts people to wheelchairs and that's really sad. I think that's why we've agreed to help — because the people who have MS really can't."

In addition to the obvious benefit of raising money to help find a cure for MS, Miss Longos said she enjoys the competitive additude the Athletes vs. MS campaign creates between schools.

"MS is by no means a game, but they try to make the collection process competitive, between schools and that helps make it fun," Miss Longos said.

Laura Austin, another member of the GCIS team, is also a junior and like Miss Longos this is her second year on the Athletes vs. MS team.

"I did it last year and it was a lot of fun. Also, it was for a good cause, to help people with MS. Mr. (Roger, GCIS' athletic director) Smith said he was having trouble getting people to collect for MS. So we told him we'd do it," Miss Austin said. Miss Austin and some of the other girls are student workers in the GCIS athletic office.

Last year, prior to the Athletes vs. MS campaign, MS Chairperson Carol Keller Ring contacted Smith inquiring about GCIS' interest in participating in the fund raiser.

Generally, the Multiple Sclerosis Society tries to get a high school club to sponsor the local MS campaign, but because the relative brevity of time to prepare for the campaign, few clubs were interested. That's when Smith recruited the girls.

"It seemed like too good a thing to let go by, so that's when I decided to take it on," Smith said. "She (Ring) called back and I still hadn't found anyone to take it. I was embarrassed to tell her that we wouldn't compete because we couldn't get a team ATHLETES VS. MS. This 12-member team from Granite City High School will compete against approximately 70 schools in the St. Louis area during the next few days as they collect money for the Multiple Sclerosis Society. Team members include (beginning from left) Cherrie Bosworth, Chris Wright, Laura Austin, Kelli Wilson, Carolyn Smith, Sue Lombardi and Karen Buecker. Standing in the back are Donna Kastelic, Maria Longos, Cindi Schaffner, Carla Schaefer and Marce Schiller. together so I told her that I'd get some kids together."

Smith and the team of 12 girls assembled for this year's team are but a handful of a much larger group dedicated to fight MS.

Jim Hanifan, coach of the St. Louis football Cardinals, is the St. Louis area-honorary chairman. In addition to Hanifan's and the Cardinals' support, the Multiple Sclerosis Society is receiving support from Rawling's Sporting Goods, the Marriott Pavilion Hotel, Kangaroo Shoes, Pizza Hut, Six Flags Over Mid-America and KHTH Radio.

The local team will take to their "field of competition" this Friday and Saturday, April 6 and 7, at various locations in Granite City.

This Friday from 4 to 7 p.m. part of the "team" will be at store fronts — Kroger Foods, Schnuck's Foods and National Foods — while the rest of the "team" will be accepting donations at area banks and savings and loans. The second contingent will be at the Colonial Bank on Ponton Road, the American Heritage Bank in the American Heritage Village, the First National Bank downtown as well as at the Belmore location and at Granite City Trust's downtown and Madison Ave. locations.

Savings Bond campaign launched

More than 30 representatives from leading St. Louis companies, governmental agencies and institutions met late last week to organize the 1984 St. Louis Region U.S. Savings Bond Campaign. The representatives were given assignments to contact 200 other St. Louis organizations in their field to help those organizations establish individual Savings Bond campaigns to encourage their employees to purchase bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan.

Oliver C. Bolleau, president of General Dynamics Corp., and chairman of the 1984 St. Louis Region Savings Bonds "are important to our region's employees, because they offer a secure, competitive and convenient method of personal investment, and they are important to our country because they represent a major, non-inflationary source of funds for our federal government."

The interest on Series EE Savings

Bonds purchased on or after Nov. 1, 1982, is 85 percent of the average market yield on five-year Treasury securities, compounded semi-annually, when the bonds are held five years or longer. For those bonds, the present interest rate is 9.38 percent. Bonds are guaranteed to earn a minimum of 7.5 percent when held at least five years; bonds redeemed less than five years from issue will earn fixed, guaranteed interest.

Evaluation made of Clinton construction costs

An independent evaluation of the Clinton nuclear power station's construction schedule and cost estimate made by Ebasco Services, Inc., has been filed with the Illinois Commerce Commission.

Ebasco has worldwide experience in all phases of development of approximately 1,000 electric generating units, including participation in the design and construction of 35 nuclear units. The engineering firm began a service organization in 1965.

The conclusions reached in the Ebasco report are: "From the analysis of the data collected and the interviews performed, it is concluded that the Clinton Project cost estimate of $2,658 million is reasonable, with an additional cost exposure of from $150 million to $200 million probable."

"The project construction schedule, projecting a fuel load date of January 1986, is achievable. If the concerns identified in this report are addressed in a timely fashion.

"The management of the Clinton Project is deemed capable of meeting the demands of the cost estimate and construction schedule. The recommendations included in this report, if not already addressed, should be reviewed and, where feasible, implemented to improve the probability of completing the project on schedule."

In addition, Ebasco found the reported costs, to date, to be "inclusive and accurate."

PROMOTING CANCER AWARENESS. Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler, center, gives a boost to the American Cancer Society's upcoming residential crusade by signing a proclamation declaring April as Cancer Control Month. Presenting the document to the mayor are, left, the Rev. Don F. Pierson, pastor of Nameoki Presbyterian Church, and Jack Grieves, assistant vice president of St. Elizabeth Medical Center, who is serving as chairman of the Quad-City Unit, American Cancer Society. Next week, the society will conduct a door-to-door survey to make residents aware of the need for regular medical checkups and to seek contributions for education, research and service. Chamber head praises job training grant to Conalco

The Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs has announced that it will provide $68,000 to Consolidated Aluminum Corporation (CONALCO) in Madison to assist in the retraining of 68 employees.

This financial assistance was secured from the state's Industrial Training Program (ITP) and represents the maximum amount available per employee under the criteria of the program. Success in securing this assistance was the result of a cooperative effort involving representatives of CONALCO, the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, the Madison County Community Development Office, Local 4804 of the United Steelworkers of America, Sen. Sam Vadala, Rep. Sam Wolf, and the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs. This is the first time ITP funds have been used in Madison County and the first time ITP funds have been used for retraining in the state.

When the CONALCO facility was threatened with closure earlier this year, local labor and management groups were able to reach a satisfactory settlement destined to enhance productivity and, in turn, allow CONALCO to compete more effectively in the market place. Part of the settlement involved the cross training of employees allowing more effective use of existing manpower. CONALCO contacted the Chamber inquiring as to the availability of state or federal assistance programs. Representatives of the Chamber and Madison County Community Development Office identified the ITP as the most likely source. "It is interesting to note that almost all state and federal training programs are designed for companies generating new employment. A void exists for companies in need of retraining assistance," said James Pennkamp, executive vice president of the Chamber.

"The situation at CONALCO was somewhat unique. Approximately 350 jobs were saved due to the efforts of the plant's labor and management leadership and the resulting settlement. This in itself is noteworthy and provided the catalyst for successful funding."

"When Rep. Wolf and individuals from the Chamber, Community Development, CONALCO, and the union local met in Springfield, DCCA officials were impressed with the level of local cooperation. They were very receptive to our needs and agreed that in economically depressed areas, 350 jobs saved were as important as the creation of new employment. DCCA was, therefore, willing to offer assistance in CONALCO's efforts to regain profitability." Pennkamp said, adding, "Once again, cooperation among local agencies was a key to success. The resources to stimulate development are available and cooperation will insure their best use."

Accident results in driver charged

William C. Tanner, 37, of 2624 Pontoon Road, was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol late last week. He agreed to take a blood alcohol test at St. Elizabeth Medical Center and was released after posting his driver's license and a $102 cash bond.

Tanner was taken into custody at Amos Avenue and Johnson Road after his 1974 station-wagon, heading north in the 3300 block of Johnson Road, allegedly struck an auto parked there belonging to Roger W. Gilliam, 1641 Fifth St., Madison. Debris from the collision struck a 1983 vehicle traveling south, operated by Peggy S. Gay, 22, of 4076 Lake Drive, Pontoon Beach, reports said. There were no apparent injuries.

STOLEN TRUCK WRECKED

A 1981 Ford Ranger pickup owned by Joe Kayich, 1028 Washington Ave., Madison, and reported stolen at 11:40 p.m. Friday from the 15th Street parking area at the Granite City Steel plant, was recovered by the Madison County Sheriff's Department at 12:15 a.m. Saturday, after the vehicle was wrecked and abandoned on Bend Road, south of Madison.

Big brother saves infant from injury

A simple car ride through town could have turned into disaster for James Lemp last week, but thanks to his 8-year-old son Michael, his family is safe.

Avenue 4 week ago today, with his son Michael and his 11-day-old son Timmy, when the front door of the passenger side of the car flew open.

The door locking mechanism had apparently been broken in a previous accident, unknown to the Lemp family.

Michael, who was holding Timmy, fell from the car.

Lemp stopped his car and ran to his sons. Timmy miraculously escaped any harm and Michael had only suffered a scrape.

Michael had saved his brother by holding him tightly by the neck and the legs, close to his own body.

Timmy was later examined by a doctor, who confirmed that he had suffered no breaks or bruises.

Michael, who is a third grader at Marshall Elementary School, said he was not frightened by the fall, just worried about his brother's safety.

Michael also is a member of the Cub Scouts. He and his father, brother and mother, Beverly, live at 3045 Marshall Ave.

Carla Marie Jones, 5-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Danny Jones of Madison, has been selected as a contestant in the 1984 South Illinois National Little Miss Pageant.

Health Fair to offer exhibits, tests

The St. Elizabeth Medical Center's Health Fair '84 promises to be bigger and better than ever this year, according to a center spokesman.

Health Fair '84 will feature free health tests and exhibits from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. on April 12. The public is being encouraged to attend.

"Health Fair organizers are hoping for a much larger turnout this year than last," the spokesman stated. "They've given special attention to planning traffic patterns so that people will be able to move quickly through the various booths and stations."

All tests, exhibits and referral services will be free. There will be a charge for certain blood tests. Health Fair will give residents an opportunity for people to check on their health status and learn how to prevent diseases. "And at these prices, who can afford to pass this up?" according to the spokesman.

This year, for the first time, test results will be mailed to health fair participants. In the past, those results were forwarded to the participants' physicians only.

Free tests will be administered for blood pressure, height and weight, vision disorders, visual acuity, glaucoma, diabetes, colon cancer, anemia and pulmonary functions.

Exhibits will be featured by the Arthritis Foundation, Hospice of Madison County, food service department of SEMC, Talbot Hall chemical dependency unit, Lifeline emergency response system, American Lung Association, American Heart Association, Epilepsy Foundation, the Department of Children and Family Services, American Cancer Society and the Madison-St. Clair County Pharmacy Association.

Holiday Shores

Club hosts meeting

The Holiday Shores Garden Club was hostess club for the 32nd annual meeting of District V Garden Clubs, held at Holiday Shores club house.

Mrs. Louise Sheary, president of the club, welcomed everyone with hospitality coffee and rolls with the tables set in a spring theme, with bunny rabbits, tulips, geraniums and favors of tiny straw flower arrangements and a package of flower seeds for each guest.

The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Virginia Kauthold, director for the past two years, with 91 members and guests present. All 15 garden clubs in the district were represented, including Cahokia, Cloverview, Collinsville, Creative Gardeners, Edwardsville, Fairview Heights, Gardenaires, Garden Study, Green Oaks, Holiday Shores, Lakeview, Mascoutah, St. Clair County, Shiloh Valley and Trenton Tumbleweeds.

Guests from the state were Mrs. Joan Kelly, state president and Mrs. LaVerne Laycock, state awards chairman.

Guest speaker was Lowell Patterson, state forester of Shawnee National Forest. With the slides he showed and his talk, everyone understood more about the importance of Shawnee National Forest, which is located in the southern part of Illinois.

Mrs. Marian Nelson gave the results of the judging of the year books and history books. All fifteen clubs rated 98 per cent or higher on their year books, and of the nine history books turned in, eight clubs received a blue ribbon and one received a red ribbon.

A candlelight memorial service was given by Mrs. Dorothy Chamberlain for seven deceased members in the district.

Mary Muentz reported the Smokey Bear poster contest was a success, with approximately 205 entries, which were forwarded on to state after judging. Julie Heberer gave the following winners in the artistic designs for the day — "Spring Awakens" — Collinsville, first; St. Clair County, second; Mascoutah, third; Fairview Heights, fourth and for "Time To Grow" — Creative Gardeners, second; Shiloh Valley, third.

Guests attend Chapter 1067 meeting

The regular meeting of NARFE Chapter 1067 was held at Charlie's Restaurant with 50 members in attendance, including five federal retirees, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Todoroff, Joan Brewer, Lawrence McGuire, and Allen Walker. The Todoroffs, who were traveling from South Texas to their home in Michigan had stopped in Granite City to visit friends.

The president, Gerald Walters, called the meeting to order and Second Vice President Thara Erney gave the invocation. All present repeated the pledge of allegiance to the flag in unison.

First Vice President Ruth Stoyanoff gave a status report on the NARFE suit contesting the legality of reductions made in federal retirement entitlements. The government, as defendant, had requested an extension to mid-March in order to file its response to NARFE's statement of points and authorities paper filed in early January. NARFE's attorney agreed to the extension request.

During the Feb. 13th meeting, chapter members were urged to write this area's congressional representatives about our deep concerns over the continual erosion of federal retiree benefits, such as those contained in President Ronald Reagan's recommended FY 1985 budget, submitted to Congress in mid-January. To assist members in their individual letter-writing efforts, an address list will be compiled, and copies distributed at the next meeting, she added.

Mayme Vallow, on behalf of the sunshine committee, gave a special welcome to Mary Breidenbach, who attended her first NARFE meeting following an illness.

The president then reviewed recommendations formulated by the executive board at its March meeting. Walters said the elected officers agreed that the executive board should also include a representative chapter member, and that Al Moore has agreed to serve in this capacity. Also, the executive board is recommending to the membership that name badges be provided for those attending future meetings.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, the president introduced Chester "Bud" McMillan of the Coordinated Youth Services, who in turn introduced the guest speaker, David Hutchinson of the Plaza Health Care. Both men are social workers and have been working closely for the past decade.

The Alton-based organization which Hutchinson heads is non-profit agency which operates the State of Illinois alcoholism/drug abuse treatment and prevention program in Madison County with one of its offices located in Granite City. Hutchinson confined his presentation to the various stages and problems of alcoholism as well as the community resources available for treatment of victims of this disease and for assistance to their families.

The president concluded the meeting after announcing that the next meeting will be held at Charlie's on April 9.

The PTA members agreed to buy trophies for the spelling bee winners from Prather and to buy frames for the certificates for each child that read 100 books this year.

The Granite City PTA Area Council convention unit chairman distributed tickets at an earlier meeting, and winners to be announced at the next meeting, according to the president.

A note of appreciation was read by President Carol Franklin from Bob and Carol Brandmeier thanking the PTA for helping in the recent blood drive. There were 184 pints of blood donated and Prather School was the only school in the district having their principal, Richard Brinkhoff, participate.

Mrs. Franklin then read the PTA by-laws with proposed changes that will be voted on at the April meeting. An invitation was read from Maryville School asking the parents to attend a meeting on drug and alcohol abuse.

The fifth grade class of Steve Darr won the $5 prize for having the largest percentage of parents attending.

Fleet Reserve Auxiliary plans membership drive

U.S. Navy and Marine Corp Reserve Center, St. Louis, was the site for the monthly meeting of the Greater St. Louis Unit 267, Ladies Auxiliary of the Fleet Reserve Association (LA FRA). The meeting was opened by the Unit President Jean Schott by having the color bearers parade the colors. Chaplain Jane Trapp gave the opening prayer, after which members recited the pledge of allegiance to the Flag and the LA FRA Preamble.

Membership Chairman Ruth McConaughy advised she and her committee are planning a spring membership drive and requested all members to participate. Youth Chairman, Cindy Murley, reported everything is set up for the tour of the Children's Home Society of Missouri and every member is invited to take the tour. Lois Downer, hospital chairman, noted that gifts had been delivered and distributed to veterans at Jefferson Barracks National Veterans Hospital.

Janet Mueller, welfare chairman, thanked all members for remembering to bring canned goods and staples to fill the unit food cupboard. She stated she had a request for help from a family that had recently lost everything in a fire. It was voted to give the family all the goods in the cupboard plus buy some fresh vegetables and meat to add to the basket. The chairman reminded all members to restock the cupboard at the April meeting.

Shroud of Turin display opens Sunday

An acclaimed photographic exhibit of the Holy Shroud of Turin will be featured from Sunday, April 8, through Easter Sunday at the National Shrine of Our Lady of the Snows in Belleville. This exhibit will be open to the public daily from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Admission is free.

This is the largest photo exhibit in the world of the Holy Shroud, consisting of more than 100 photographs, a spokesman said. It can be viewed in the Dr. Thomas Dooley Center at the Shrine.

The Holy Shroud of Turin is allegedly the very cloth in which Jesus Christ was wrapped after his crucifixion. It bears on it the image of the man wrapped in the cloth, quite possibly the true image of Jesus Christ. This cloth is referred to as the Shroud of Turin because it has been kept in a chapel attached to the cathedral of St. John of Turin, Italy, more or less continuously since 1678, when the Duke of Savoy moved the Shroud across the Alps to his new capital Torino in Italy's northwest region of Piedmont. Except for a period during World War II, it has been there ever since.

The exhibit comes from Milwaukee, Wis., and is exclusively owned by "The Center for the Study of the Passion of Christ and the Holy Shroud." It's origin stems from a financial grant received from De Raan, Inc., who financed a team of scientists to study the supposedly original shroud. The exhibit is the work of top experts in medicine, physics, archeology and exegesis headed by Monsignor Giulio Ricci, the priest in charge of the Shrine Center for studies on the Passion of Christ and on the Holy Shroud.

Magr. Ricci, in 27 years of study has reconstructed the dramatic Passion of Jesus in this exhibit. Another famous American Jesuit, Father Francis L. Filia, a professor of theology at Loyola University of Chicago, has spent many years studying to solve the controversial mystery of the Shroud. The modern America's Homecoming Queen, Inc. is a non-profit organization promoting education and educational travel for high school homecoming queens in all 50 states.

Boston society formed detectives probing the mystery include art historians, pathologists, linguists, biblical scholars, textile experts, chemists and photographic specialists.

"The reason why the Shrine is making this exhibit available is the hope that it might serve as one of many effective tools to help believers in Jesus experience a more meaningful Lenten and Easter season," the spokesman said.

Other seasonal programs sponsored at the Shrine include a free one hour film shown daily, of the Passion, "Death and Resurrection of Jesus," taken from Franco Zeffirelli's film entitled "Jesus of Nazareth." A nightly discussion workshop on "How Christ is Alive in our Personal Lives and World Today" will be held April 15, 16, 17 and 20 in St. Joseph's Chapel in the Visitors' Center at 6:30 and 7:30 p.m. The National Shrine of Our Lady of the Snows is located at 9500 W. ACCIDENT LEAVES ONE ARLINGTON MAN INJURED

Carl B. Foster, 55, of Arlington Heights, was injured last week when his car was struck while turning left on 10th Street in Madison.

Gary S. Wiggins, 21, of Maryland Heights, Mo., was southbound on Madison Avenue, when his car collided with Foster's. Wiggins was charged with failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident.

Proverbs 18:10 "The name of the Lord is a strong tower; the righteous runneth into it, and is safe."

People today are obsessed with security. We have double locks on our doors, and iron bars over our windows for security. Some places even hire armed guards to patrol their streets hoping they will find safety. When we look at the evil that is in the world today, it is not surprising we will try almost anything to be safe. Did you know all of these things will fail because we are looking to human possibilities for safety?

There is one refuge we can take that will never fail us. That is God! As the scripture says, He is a strong tower, we can run to Him and be safe. No matter what happens there is peace and safety in God. He will envelope us in His love. Everything else we try will eventually fail. God never fails. He will never leave you. He will never forsake you. You can be at peace knowing He has everything under control.

Run to Him and be safe, today!

Travelers Abroad hears of Alpines

Approximately 30 members of Travelers Abroad attended a meeting at Prather School Library and heard about Alpine countries.

Dr. Alice Purdes, president for 1983, welcomed members and guests and presented certificates of appreciation to Betty Applegate, Helen Krumsek, Ernest Rouland, Barbara Williams, Betty Townsend and Mary Evangelina for their service during her tenure as president.

Dr. Purdes stated that members of the nominating committee for the 1984 slate of officers were Betty Townsend, Barbara Williams and Ann Turner. Betty Townsend announced the new officers of 1984 are:

Walter Klein, president; Marguerite Barker, vice president in charge of programs; Helens Todoroff and Dorothy Sheppard, publicity; Betty Applegate, treasurer; Helen Krumsek, secretary, and Ruth Huxel and Alice Purdes, arrangements.

Marguerite Barker, in charge of the program, introduced the guest speakers, Gayle Holstinger and Barbara Godwin, who worked together both in Europe and the Philippines, and subsequently made several trips to Europe. Having lived in Europe and Mrs. Godwin's connection with a travel agency were advantageous in their arranging a visit to Austria and Switzerland, and visiting small workshops and large factories famous for fine European products.

The guest speakers' program included a slide presentation and display of items purchased in the Alpine countries.

The trip was described as a "factory outlet tour" and "European Shopping Spree" to explore the "native" side of family-run shops with artisans who have made many items for beautifully hand-made items.

STATE REPAYS $50 MILLION
The balance in the state's general funds at the end of March was $294 million, the fourth consecutive month-end balance above the $200 million fiscal "warning zone." But the state faces repayment of $150 million in loans during the coming two months that will reduce the balance. The first $50 million of $200 million in loans from the private sector was repaid in March.

I-270 resurfacing among contracts awarded by IDOT

Resurfacing of nearly three miles of Interstate 270 between the Chain of Rocks Canal and Route 111, at a cost of $2,157,320, was among 173 projects across the state for which bids totaling $84.7 million were awarded by the Illinois Department of Transportation after the March 23 bid opening. MacLair Asphalt Co., Inc., of Collinsville was the successful bidder on the I-270 project and work is expected to begin in the near future. The bid was slightly more than the engineers' estimate of $1,982,000 for the work.

Other area projects, and the apparent low bidder on each are:

— Cleaning and painting four bridges on various routes in Madison and St. Clair counties, Thomas Paiting and Contracting Co., Orland Park, $39,730.

— Reconstruction of the intersection of Route 3 (the Bern Highway) and Ridge Street in Alton, Charles E. Mahoney Co., Belleville, $112,778.

— 1.45 miles of base course and resurfacing on Route 157 between Route 13 and Lake Boulevard in Centerville, Reese Construction Co., Cahokia, $598,057.

Main Street from South 75th Street to South 60th Street in Belleville, Reese Construction, $541,729.

— Remove and replace the superstructure carrying Route 15 over the Harding Ditch in Centerville, Koeley & Sons, Inc., East St. Louis, $707,650.

— Reclamation of the Belle Valley Mile, an abandoned deep coal mine a mile east of Belleville, Bernard McMenamy, Contractor, Inc., St. Charles, Mo., $56,260.

File DUI, weapons charges on birthday

Receiving a call of shots being fired in the 1900 block of Lynn Avenue during the weekend, officers were unable to locate the driver of a black Jeep, who allegedly was involved, until four minutes later when such a vehicle was sighted traveling west in the 1500 block of Johnson Road.

Michael W. Green, 29, of 2809 Buxton Ave., the driver, was halted at 28th Street and Madison Avenue, where a blue steel semi-automatic pistol and two ammunition clip loaders, one holding three live rounds, allegedly were seen on the passenger seat of the car.

Reports noted that Green had a gun holster on his hip and a hunting knife in a leather sheath on a belt. He was wearing a pair of binoculars around the neck and a wires to an earplug, wrapped around the neck, tied to a small portable radio in his shirt pocket.

A small folding knife was found in his pocket and a .45-caliber semi-automatic pistol containing one live round was confiscated from the Jeep.

Green reported that he was out celebrating his birthday. He appeared to have been drinking, reports said, and consented to a breathalyzer test, administered by an Illinois State Police trooper.

Green was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol, unlawful use of a weapon and with discharging a firearm in the city limits. He was released at 4 a.m. Sunday after posting a $256 cash bond.

EXPIRED LICENSE CHARGED
Rusty Allan Burns, 18, of 805 Washington Ave., Madison, was charged by Venice police Monday night with driving with an expired driver's license. He was released on $100 cash bond.

SIGNATURE IS FORGED
Guy Burns, 1506½ Second St., Madison, reported during the weekend that a U.S. Treasury check for $114 with a forged signature had been cashed by a Madison food store.

Draft horse clinic is on April 7

By RONALD E. CORNWELL
Extension Adviser

A draft horse clinic will be Saturday, April 7, at the Purdue Livestock Pavilion on the Purdue University Campus at Lafayette, Ind. The clinic is a full day of information and will include a draft horse judging contest.

The judging will be open to 4-Hers, FFA members, college students and adults. The emphasis will be on learning to judge draft horses, rather than a highly structured contest. Classes will include Percherons, Clydesdales and Belgians.

Any person interested in attending the draft horse clinic should contact Kevin Kline, Extension Specialist, Horses, U of I, 105 Stock Pavilion, 1402 W. Pennsylvania Avenue, Urbana, Ill. 61801.

CORN PLANTING

It is important that Madison County farmers plant the proper number of corn kernels per acre if they want to obtain a maximum corn yield.

John Siemens, University of Illinois agricultural engineer, says there is a big difference between planting a specific population in April or May and what you harvest in October. Many seed companies base their population recommendations on harvest populations and not number of seeds planted. It is up to the farmer to plant a high enough planting time population to result in the desired harvest population.

Corn populations are reduced because not all kernels germinate and merge. Some kernels or plants are lost to insects or disease. The rotary hoe and cultivator may destroy other plants.

The number of corn kernels a farmer should plant is normally about 20 percent more than he plans to harvest. We normally expect about 20 percent stand, reduction due to the reasons mentioned in the above paragraph.

After corn planting, you can figure your plant population by making field checks in several areas of the field. I would recommend planting corn from 2 to 2½ inches deep.

LIGHTING REQUIRED

As spring farm work approaches, Madison County farmers will soon be moving farm equipment on the roads and highways as they move from field to field. It is very important to have the proper lighting and reflectors when on a public road.

Begin by mounting SMV emblems on the rear of all equipment, according to Illinois law. SMV emblems must be visible for 500 feet. In some states where displaying the SMV emblem is mandatory, accidents have decreased 47 percent.

In addition, to SMV emblems, each tractor implement combination must be equipped with taillights, headlights and flashing amber lights. Farmers should mount flashing amber lights so they are visible 500 feet in normal sunlight.

When operating tractors and other self-propelled implements on highways between sunset and sunrise, Illinois law requires that two headlights display white lights visible at least 1,000 feet. Also, two taillights must be visible at least 1,000 feet to the rear. The amber flashing light must be on during night transportation.

Implements towed behind a farm tractor or pick-up should display two red rear lights visible for 1,000 feet or more and mounted on the left and right rear of the vehicle. Unless lights, reflectors and SMV emblems are clean and in working condition, they offer little protection.

Wash SMV emblems with household detergent and water. A dirty emblem is not visible for 500 feet. Sunlight and weather fade emblems, resulting in limited visibility. Replace faded or damaged emblems.

WARRANTS, CHARGES AGAINST MOTORCYCLIST

Thomas E. Gifford, 23, of 2667 Highway 67, whose motorcycle was stopped this week at St. Louis Avenue and Maple Street, was found to have two active warrants issued against him through the Madison County Sheriff's Department, alleging charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor and illegal possession of alcohol.

In addition, Gifford was charged by Granite City police with driving while his license was suspended and not having valid registration. The motorcycle was ordered towed from the scene.

BAC students design landscape for retirement complex

Belleville Town Square retirement complex residents have a beautiful landscaped atrium to enjoy, thanks to the hard work of Belleville Area College students.

"Fantastic, absolutely unbelievable" is how Paul Mueth, owner of the complex describes it. CHARLIE GIEDEMAN'S Indoor Plants class provided the knowledge and manpower while the complex provided the money for materials. The result is a lush lobby for the complex and valuable practical experience for the students.

"A close friend of mine went through the class a while back and he introduced me to Charlie," Mueth said.

Mueth's confidence gave Giedeman the freedom to try some new design ideas.

"MUETH CAME IN with the idea of an atrium and we found we could work it into our Indoor Plants class," said Giedeman. "It was a chance to try new and innovative applications."

New techniques used include the absence of a major soil mass and the extensive use of containers instead. Even the 18-foot weeping fig-trees are potted plants. The design also uses 780 concrete blocks to establish different elevations. Portuguese cork covers the blocks.

The design took three weeks to plan. Students submitted plans designs and Giedeman combined the components from each into a design. The students then spent approximately 24 hours installing the 350 specimens, using class time and free time.

THE CLASS involvement with the project does not end with the installation. The class will look after their creation for a month. The complex has hired class member Marc Woolley, a June graduate, to act as plant caretaker and security guard.

Construction students take 1st in contest

A team of five construction students in the School of Engineering at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has taken first place in the concrete strength competition sponsored by the American Concrete Institute.

The SIUE team consisted of senior

Frank Freeman, project chairman, senior Tom Taylor, junior Jeff Kinkle, junior Vince Mannino, and junior Al White. All are majors in construction. Their faculty adviser was Luke Snell, professor of construction.

THE SIUE PROJECT won out over eight entries submitted by four schools, including New Jersey Institute of Technology, University of Sherbrooke, Quebec, Canada, and Merrimack College, Mass. The goal of the contest was to achieve the highest compressive strength using the smallest possible amount of cement. Each team submitted a cube constructed under a specified set of conditions and materials.

The winning SIUE entry stood up under a compression ratio (ultimate strength divided by pound of cement) amounting to 161,000. It easily outdistanced the second place entry from the New Jersey Institute of Technology, with 116,000, and the third place entry from the University of Sherbrooke, at 115,000.

The judging took place at the annual convention of the American Concrete Institute in Phoenix, Ariz. The winning team will be awarded a trophy for the accomplishment at ceremonies in November.

A 25-year veteran of the insurance business, Johnson is the co-author of "Build A Better You-Starting Now."

The seminar will begin with registration at 8:45 a.m. and run until 3 p.m. when awards will be given. The fee for the seminar is $17.50 in advance, $30 at the door. The last day for advance registration is Monday, April 9.

THE OLD GUYS JAZZ Band, popular during the 1960s and '70s, will reunite Sunday evening, April 8, for a benefit performance at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Composed of SIUE faculty members, the Old Guys disbanded a few years ago because of heavy academic schedules.

Tickets for the performance, sponsored by the SIUE Women's Club, are $10 each (tax deductible) and are available at Union Station in the University Center. Arrangements for a table can be made by calling Connie Denue, 1-656-0643. The performance is scheduled for the University Club from 7 to 9 p.m. A cash bar and snacks will be available.

Broadway, Friday, April 8, from 1 to 4 p.m.

The event is scheduled to begin with a panel discussion designed to inform students of varied careers and opportunities existing in the science, engineering and health-related fields. The discussion will be followed by small group meetings where students will be able to question guests about their job experiences. All persons are invited to attend.

THE OFFICE OF UNIVERSITY MUSEUMS at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has announced that it has received a grant which will allow it to add 13 new art works to the university's collection. According to David Huntley, director of University Museums, the grant was received from the Illinois Arts Council's Permanent Collection Purchase Program for 1994. This program is part of the state's effort to build public collections by distinguished Illinois artists, Huntley said.

These 13 works, which include bronze sculpture, photographs, paintings, prints and ceramics, will be added to the permanent collection of SIUE and will be placed on display as a part of the museums' continuing program for exhibiting art on campus, Huntley stated.

THE OFFICE OF STUDENT ACTIVITIES at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will offer a workshop April 11 on child support. The workshop is scheduled in the board room of the University Center, beginning at 1:30 p.m. The session is free, and SIUE students, faculty and staff, as well as the general public, are invited to attend.

Barbara S. Joiner, attorney for student legal services at the university, and Barbara Crowder, assistant state's attorney for Madison County, will conduct the workshop.

THE OFFICE OF ACADEMIC SERVICES at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will offer three workshops for students preparing to take the tests of achievement and proficiency (TAP), required for those planning to major in education.

Tests are scheduled Thursday, April 5, from 2:30 until 4:30 p.m.; Friday, April 13, from 12:30 until 2:30 p.m.; and Wednesday, April 18, from 2:30 until 4:30 p.m. The workshops will be held in Room 1412 of Peck Classroom building.

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED Attorney At Law

A case involving child custody and religion is currently being heard by a Florida Court, and this case has gained a great deal of national attention. It involves a Jewish father and a Catholic mother. At the time of the original divorce, the parents were awarded joint custody of the minor child. Apparently subsequent to the divorce, the father would take the child to the Jewish synagogue twice per month and the mother would take the child to the Catholic church twice per month.

After several years of following this procedure, the father decided that he wanted the child. He went back to Court to modify the original custody award. The basis for seeking this change of custody was that the child had reached a point where he preferred the Jewish faith. What makes this case even more remarkable is that the child who is now expressing this preference is only six years old.

Whereas this case has not yet been decided, this writer felt that it would be interesting to note the position of Illinois Courts on these matters. It is important to note at the outset that joint custody of a child cannot be awarded by an Illinois Court initially unless it is agreed upon by the father and mother. Before a recent change in the law, a Judge could force a joint custody arrangement on the parents even if they did not want it. This recently was changed by the Illinois Legislature.

Apparently this was part of the problem in the Florida case. The trial judge in the original divorce decided on joint custody even though the parents' religious preferences were widely divergent. Joint custody depends upon cooperation between the parents. Normally the custodial parent decides where the child will attend school and church. In the case of joint custody, these are decisions to be made jointly by the mother and father.

Assuming that Illinois parents wound up having joint custody in a situation similar to the Florida case, it is also important to remember that custody cannot be changed unless there is a substantial change in circumstances. This change in religious preference of a six year old child is probably not such a substantial change in circumstances to warrant a transfer of custody to the father. The parents may be stuck with this unworkable joint custody arrangement unless the father can demonstrate this substantial change.

Channel 9 art auction planned

St. Louis' biggest televised art auction is back for the second year. The Nine Collection, a group of art works donated by artists, craftsmen, galleries and art collectors, will again be a feature of the Channel 9 Auction Adventure, April 27 to May 6. The televised Auction is Channel 9's annual spring general fund-raiser.

Artwork in The Nine Collection is chosen by a jury of art experts on the basis of quality, diversity and artistic excellence and will be sold on air by art professionals during a special segment of the action. The collection will be itemized and described in a catalogue and will be on public display in April.

Ernest Trova, internationally-famous St. Louis artist and sculptor, has donated artwork from his Falling Man series for the 1984 Nine Collection limited-edition poster. Noted graphic designer Stan Gellman is designing the catalogue and will be for sale in limited quantities during the Auction.

"Our purpose for The Nine Collection is to create a distinctive collection of quality pieces from leading St. Louis artists and collectors," said Barbara Coughlin, Nine Collection chairwoman. "St. Louis' only televised art auction provides valuable exposure for the artists, and a unique opportunity for serious art lovers interested in purchasing works."

Simple Projects Taught On "The Do-It-Yourself Show"

Are you a frustrated homeowner? Would you like to weatherize your house to cut back on some of those soaring energy bills? Or make your home safer by making sure that intruders stay out... Or replace that 20-year-old kitchen floor with the cracked tile?

If you are frustrated because you can't afford to hire someone to make the needed improvements or if you aren't sure how to go about it yourself, a solution is at hand. A new half-hour program, THE DO-IT-YOURSELF SHOW, will premiere Saturday, April 7 at 1:00 p.m. on KETC/Channel 9, and it's produced by KTCA Minneapolis/St. Paul for the frustrated homeowner as well as for the avid do-it-yourselfer.

The program demonstrates the step-by-step process for ceiling, wall and floor treatment; energy management; home security; electrical wiring; refinishing and deck construction, among other types of work. Of course, you need to know the basics of how to work with the various types of power and hand tools, so that is also covered.

The show's hosts, Curt Burdick and Avian Rogers, present many personal insights into do-it-yourself work to make it easier. Avian and Curt present common sense methods, hard facts and safety procedures in a lively and interesting manner so that viewers will know they can have fun doing the work while saving money. Avian and Curt have a total of 25 years of practical experience between them, and are considered experts in the field of do-it-yourself home improvements. Avian is a licensed building contractor. Curt is an architect who specializes in residential design and remodeling.

THE DO-IT-YOURSELF SHOW is taped entirely on location — in a house purchased specifically to be remodeled by Curt and Avian. The house was built in 1979 and contains all the surprises that very other typical old house would reveal to a do-it-yourselfer.

THE DO-IT-YOURSELF SHOW is locally funded by Central Hardware.

Enrollment started at St. Peter's School

Enrollment for 3- and 4-year-old children who wish to attend classes in the 1984-85 school year, has started at St. Peter's School for the Young Years.

The preschool program, now completing its fourth year under new supervision, is conducted in the educational building at St. Peter's Evangelical United Church of Christ, 2103 Cleveland Blvd. Classes in the next school year will begin after Labor Day and continue through May 15. Enrollment opportunities are first offered to current pre-school children and church members, then to all 3- and 4-year-olds.

The school will operate one session for 3-year-olds on Tuesday and Thursday mornings, and one class for 4-year-olds on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. Afternoon classes also may be scheduled, if the need arises.

Each class level is taught a separate curriculum, complete with learning activities, language arts, mathematics, music, large and small motor skills and special art. Each child is encouraged to develop at his own pace.

Children also will participate in field trips, holiday parties, cooking experiences and walks to the library.

Darlene Bozzardi and Sheila McCauley, who are fully accredited and experienced early childhood teachers, work with the youngsters at all times.

A committee of educators serve as directors of the school and under the direction of Mildred Jungles. Visits by prospective students are welcome and may be arranged by calling the school between 9 a.m. and noon Mondays through Fridays at 977-1904. Monthly tuition charges are nominal.

Swamped by complaints of persons trespassing on private property in the Quiet Valley area of Pontoon Beach, the village police have begun arresting persons for criminal trespass to property.

Last week, Pontoon Beach police charged Robert Lutes of Pontoon Beach with criminal trespass to property. Lutes, 23, was arrested on March 25, for riding his three-wheel dirt cycle on private property.

Don Peacock of Quality Sand reported to police that persons have been trespassing on his property. It was that action, combined with other resident complaints, which have prompted Pontoon Beach police to increase their patrol of that area for trespassers.

More recently, on Monday, April 2, Pontoon Beach patrolman Tom Cell arrested three juveniles for the same reason.

The three juveniles, all on dirt motorcycles, were trespassing on private property at 4:10 p.m. when arrested. They were released to the custody of their parents with notice to appear before juvenile authorities.

Chet Ballew, Pontoon Beach police chief, said Wednesday that his department is stepping up its patrol of that area because of the complaints and will continue to do so until the complaints cease.

CHARGED ON A WARRANT

Geneva L. Chastain, 28, of 4902 Kirkpatrick Homes, was charged in a warrant with criminal damage to property last week by Granite City police. She was fined $50 and restitution and was released.
